

Communication Awareness Training

for

Nurses, Health Care Assistants, Support Workers, and other interested health and social care professionals.

- + Do you work with people who have difficulty with their speech, language and communication?
- + Do you feel confident talking to people who have difficulty getting their message across?
- + Do you want to promote positive experiences and effective interactions for those with communication difficulties?
- + Do you want to reduce the risks associated with communication breakdowns?
- + Do you want to learn simple, practical steps to improve your care provision and the well-being of individuals with communication difficulties?

We are here to work in partnership with you to achieve the best possible outcomes in supporting people with communication difficulties.

- + Our experienced Lead Speech and Language Therapist, Susan Maxey, will create and deliver bespoke, practical and interactive Communication Awareness Training to provide your staff with the skills and knowledge needed to meet the specific requirements of your service.

Learning Objectives: To enable delegates to develop their knowledge and understanding of:

- + How we acquire and use language
- + The human brain
- + Speech, language, and cognitive communication disorders
- + How to help
- + Conversation partners
- + Supportive conversations
- + Communication ramps
- + Information sources
- + How to refer to Speech and Language Therapy
